

Scenario

You work at a creative agency that creates marketing images for some of the largest brands around the world. Recently, some customers have complained that images they hadn't fully approved of were finalized.

The Creative Director has decided to put a formal approval process in place to avoid further issues and complaints. They have tasked you with creating a BPMN diagram for the new process.